TEMPERAMENTALNE I OSOBOWOŚCIOWE PREDYKTORY POSTAW ROSZCZENIOWYCH¹

TEMPERAMENTAL AND PERSONAL PREDICTORS OF ENTITLEMENT ATTITUDES

Summary. The aim of presented studies ($N = 495$) was to detect temperamental and personal predictors of entitlement attitudes: active, passive and revengefulness among adult persons. Authors assumed that only in the case of revengefulness the significant and important temperamental and personal predictors exist. There were used EAS and NEO-FFI methods. Entitlement (active attitude) was related to higher Activity and lower Agreeableness, demandingness (passive attitude) was related to higher Neuroticism, revengefulness was related to higher Anger, lower Agreeableness and lower Openness to Experience.
